Vodacom - SMSMail

Thank you for using the Vodacom SMS to email Service. You may reply to the sender of this message by using the Reply button on your email program

NB: SMS's (including M for More requests) charged at standard premium rates..

Does this apply to you: "I haven't used this service! Why did you send me this email?"

Because the free Email to SMS service is restricted to 3 messages per day, some people "borrow" email addresses to send messages. If you haven't used the Vodacom email to SMS service but you're still receiving these notification emails, it may be that your email address is being used without your permission. Please report such usage to your network support desk!

Intended Use of Vodacom SMSMail -This Service is expressly intended for person-to-person communication, from eMail to SMS and vice versa. The Service is not intended for access by a machine or any automated process of any kind, including but not restricted to automated scripts, smtp senders, web scrapers etc. By using the Service you agree to abide by these Terms of Use, the Vodacom Code of Conduct, all applicable laws and regulations pertaining to the use, privacy, and security of electronic delivery services. Other Services which offer specific machine-based automated access for bulk personalized messaging, application messaging, keyword and directory search, and web-based messaging consoles will appear over the coming weeks. Please keep this service clean and observe its intended use.
